Discourse, context and cognition TEUN A. VAN DIJK UNIVERSITAT POMPEU FABRA, BARCELONA ABSTRACT In this article the relevance of a sociocognitive approach to discourse is shown by presenting a new theory of context, defined as subjective Discourse Studies context. Indeed, discourse processing and understanding is studied at all levels as part of a communicative event, as a form of social interaction, for which in fact it provides a further cognitive basis: also action and interaction derives its meanings, functions and coordination from cognitive representations Cognitive Discourse Analysis The argument draws upon ethnomethodology, conversation analysis, linguistic philosophy and social studies of science. These influences underpin a fascinating intellectual survey ranging across cognitivism, discursive psychology, shared knowledge, categories and metaphor, emotion and narrative.
